SHABAAN 1438/APRIL 2017

FEET ON THE GROUND

In our twenty year convention of proven good governance SANHA invests substantial resources and time to interact with its various stakeholders which includes donors, sponsors, staff, industry, the public and the State.

Not high and mighty from behind lofty towers, but with two feet firmly planted on the ground, it engages with the public daily via its call centre, electronic, social and conventional media platforms and whenever possible participates in public events.

It regards the personal engagement with the public at these events as most crucial in receiving constructive criticism and feedback to make corrective course adjustments in its service to the Ummah.

You are invited to meet our representatives at two very important upcoming events.
