TRAVEL SAFETY CHECK

With the frenetic pace of life, the year end looms large before us. Suddenly school holidays, year-end functions and business closures all come to the fore. It is the time of the year when journeys are undertaken for much needed relaxation. From local short hops to holiday resorts within one's own country, to intercontinental travel locations, pilgrimages or exploring exotic destinations, people are on the move.

In the journey of life, we undertake a series of journeys. Along the way we encounter joy and sorrow, hardships and celebrations, obstacles and lessons for the ultimate journey which is from Allah to Allah.

The successful traveller is the one that has a plan and competency to achieve it. It would be disastrous and irresponsible to undertake a journey without ensuring safety checks for you and your family.

Travellers can be vulnerable when away from their creature comforts of home. Thirsty, hungry and fatigued there could be inadvertent slip ups with small compromises. Accepting a kosher-style meal, eating at places that serve alcohol, contamination of seemingly neutral food such as vegetable soup, vegetarian pizza, breads, desserts with Haraam ingredients all pose a hazard to our Imaan.

Do not abandon your usual high standards on any occasion. Your safety checks such as ordering a fruit platter as an airline meal, carrying snacks, ensuring that you have contact details of local Halaal or Islamic organisations etc. should be part of your safety checks.

ASK, ASK, ASK, AND IF IN DOUBT, LEAVE IT OUT
